THE VOTE NORTH AND SOUTH.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

The vote for President has not yet been officially declared in all the States, but enough is known to make it certain that a heavy majority of the popular vote was cast for General Garfield in the States in which free elections exist. The latest returns as tabulated by the Chicago Tribune, indicate that this honest majority has not been overcome in the States in which free elections do not exist. The Northern States have been officially reported. In those States, the majority for General Garfield over General Hancock, if we allow in each State the average vote for electors on each side, will be 440,000. This majority has been nearly overcome by the votes of States in which the election was neither free nor honest. According to the Chicago compilation, the aggregate vote of all the States is as follows: Garfield, 4,439,415; Hancock, 4,436,014; Weaver, 305,729; Dow, 9,644; scattering, 1,792; total, 9,192,595; Garfield's plurality, 3,401. If this statement is correct, the plurality for Hancock in the States formerly slave-holding must be about 396,000. That such a majority was not the result of a free and honest election, truly counted, is known to every intelligent man in the country, and is no longer denied by Southern Democratic journals of respectability. Probably it will never be possible to ascertain even approximately, what the true and free will of the qualified voters at the South was at the recent election. The only thing certain is that they did not mean to elect, and did not actually cast, a majority approaching 400,000 for General Hancock.

In some of the Southern States, the vote was doubtless taken with reasonable fairness, and counted without intentional fraud, excepting for the purpose of defeating certain local candidates. In every such State, the majority for General Hancock is less than the majority four years ago for Mr. Tilden. In Delaware, for example, instead of 2,829 Democratic majority in 1876, Hancock has 1,033 in 1880; in Maryland, instead of 19,799 in 1876, he has only 15,191; in Missouri, instead of 58,048 in 1876, he has only 55,002; and in North Carolina, instead of 17,010 in 1876, he has only 8,588. But the Republican vote has been so nearly suppressed, either by terrorism and fraud at the polls, or by false counting, in States where the colored population is relatively very large that the reported results neither represent the will of the qualified voters nor bear any relation to that will. In South Carolina, for example, it was admitted by the Democratic Congressional Committee of investigation that the Republicans had a majority in 1876 on the electoral ticket, and that they cast over 92,000 votes. Now it is pretended that the Democrats have a majority of 20,000, more or less. The same means have been employed in other States, not merely to secure a bare majority or Democratic electors, but to overpower large Republican majorities in counties and districts, as in the "Shoe-String" District of Mississippi; and the conspirators, in order to make their frauds appear more plausible, have taken care to give pretended Democratic majorities for electors, as well as for the candidates whose election was the chief object of the fraud. In this way, many thousand Democratic votes have been fraudulently returned that were never cast; and many thousand Republican votes, actually cast, have not been counted at all.

All returns from the South, as to the popular vote, are therefore really valueless. At the bar of public opinion they will be thrown out altogether, though counted by Congress, and not challenged in any legal form by Republicans. The business of the Republican party is to prevent a repetition of the great crime against free government which has for years been perpetrated in Southern States whenever it was necessary for the success of Democratic candidates. As to the recent election, it is enough that General Garfield has a clear majority over all other candidates in the Northern States, where free elections exist and the votes are honestly counted, and over the Democratic candidate a majority of 440,000. In three Northern States Democratic electors squeezed through by pluralities of less than 150 in California, 600 in Nevada and 2,000 in New Jersey, while Oregon is the only other Northern State that the Republicans failed to carry by a large and decisive majority. The next duty is to give free elections and an honest count to all the States alike. Until that duty has been performed, faithfully and completely, the Republican party has no right to lay aside its armor.

FUSION FIGURING.

The Portland Argus copies the following brilliant achievement with figures from the Boston Post:

Garfield Lacks a Majority in Maine.

The official vote of the State has been declared, and it differs materially from the returns already published. Instead of a handsome majority, Garfield has no majority at all. The highest Garfield elector received 74,056 votes, this was Otis Hayford. The highest Hancock elector (Fusion) received 69,453; this was Charles E. Whidden. The highest Greenback elector received 4,480; this was John F. Turner. The highest Prohibitionist elector received 93. There were also 127 scattering votes. The total opposition vote, taking that of the highest elector on each of the tickets, is 74,143; total Republican vote, 74,056. Republican plurality, 4,603; lacking of a majority, 197.

The above calculation simply adds 4,480 to the highest aggregate vote cast for the combined Fusion and straight Greenback tickets. Charles R. Whidden was voted for on both tickets and his vote, 69,453, was the largest number cast by the Fusionists and straight Greenbackers, and represents the extreme strength of both tickets. Add to his vote the 93 Dow votes and the 127 scattering and we have as the total opposition vote 69,693. The highest Garfield Elector had 74,055, giving a majority of 4,363 over all. As the highest Hancock Elector had but 65,171, Garfield's plurality over Hancock is 8,885.

A Washington dispatch to the Boston Transcript says that "Senator Blaine, who reached Washington, Friday evening, and had an interview with Gen. Garfield at the request of the latter, on Tuesday went to New York, but will go back to Washington this week. The rumor prevails that Senator Blaine will either enter the Cabinet as Secretary of the Treasury or name a member. The correspondent says Gen. Garfield has the highest possible appreciation of Senator Blaine, and Gen. G. is under great obligations to him for assistance during the past dozen years."

SPLINTERS.

Gen. Rosecrans has written a letter denying that he ever made the remark attributed to him to the effect that Gen. Garfield is a thief and a perjurer.

The Philadelphia Press suggests that the Territory of Utah be joined to the State of Nevada; thus forming a good sized State in which the Mormons can be outvoted.

Ohio men should always travel with swallow-tailed coats in their grip-sacks. There is no telling when they will be invited to a State dinner.—Cincinnati Commercial.

If Wade Hampton's chin had always preserved that statuesque calm which now distinguishes it, the Democratic party would have less to mourn for to-day.

Mr. John Bright's majority over Mr. Raskin in the vote for the Lord Rectorship of Glasgow University amounted to 314. The Liberal students were greatly delighted at their victory.

The defence of Mr. Parnell and his colleagues will cost about $75,000. Six meetings were held in London a fortnight ago with the object of raising funds, and subscriptions have been widely taken up in Ireland. The Land League courts, however, upon receiving the greater part of the fund from Irishmen in the United States.

Gen. Robert C. Schenck of Ohio, who has been at the point of death several times during the last two years from Bright's disease of the kidneys, is at Washington, almost completely restored to health. He attributes his recovery to carefully following an old fashioned Vermont doctor's prescription of a diet of skimmed milk with very little else.—Ex.

As the Democrats have organized many secret organizations which have come to naught, they must try their hand at organizing a new order not necessarily secret, to be called the "Sons of Ananias." Barnum would make a first-class Grand Head Centre, and the well known Democratic qualifications would render the order an undoubted success. An appropriate badge would be a lyre struck by lightning.—Tribune.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives has prepared and issued, by authority, a new edition of the rules of that body. There is much surprise at finding therein the famous twenty-second joint rule, and desire to know by what "authority" it is included. No such rule exists, its death having been affirmatively declared. Republicans suspect that its insertion in the manual is for no good purpose, and will in due time inquire into the matter.—Utica Herald.

John B. Gough says that the only time he was overcome by embarrassment while addressing an audience was in Providence, R. I., many years ago. He was addressing an audience of children on the subject of good habits, and in taking off his hat to lead in three cheers for cold water, scattered number of cigars which had been given him, among the little ones. This was bad enough, but his discomfiture was completed by a little boy creeping up on the platform and handing him one of the cigars which he had picked up.

The London critics thought that the fencing scene between Edwin Booth and Laertes was too elaborate. But Edwin inherits a love of this scene. It is told of his father that he was very trying to other actors because of his carelessness in fighting on the stage. On one occasion, however, he met his match. He was playing Hamlet so gewhere with a new Laertes, whom he warned before the performance that, as he got very excited in the fencing scene and often wounded his opponent, it therefore behooved Laertes to be careful. Laertes thinked him for the hint, and observed that he too was very excitable, and whenever he felt himself wounded he always ran his opponent through the body. Booth contrived to keep his mind and his sword under control while fighting with that Laertes.

TRAINING BOYS FOR THE NAVY.

Capt. Earl English, Chief of the Bureau of Recruiting, states that there were 7,322 men and boys in the naval service on June 30, 1880. The enlistments during the year to rep ace men discharged from service were 5 272. The "conduct reports" from vessels in commission, Mr. English says, "continue to show marked improvement in the morals of the men of the Navy."

At the close of the fiscal year there were 7,168 boys in the service, 606 of whom were on training ships and 562 on cruising ships. During the year 807 boys have been enlisted, and 308 have passed out of the training ships and been transferred to cruisers; 158 boys have been discharged, of which number 84 completed their enlistments, having served on cruising vessels; 52 receiving continuous service certificates and certificates of commendation. It is also recommended that Congress be urged to authorize a modification of the Navy ration, as applied to boys serving on the training ships, and to grant them their outfit of clothing upon enlistment. The passage of laws authorizing these changes, it is maintained, would decrease the number of desertions. In conclusion, Mr. English mentions that the training system has met the most sanguine expectations of naval officers, and he thinks that "no four years' service can boast of having a quota of American seamen that for intelligence and skill can compare favorably with any navy in the world."

A correspondent of the Worcester (Mass.) Spy, who witnessed the recent reception of Garibaldi at Milan, describing it says:

"The old man was too feeble to stand, but would sometimes lift his hand as if to salute the crowd. He wore the red felt cap, worked in colors and blue tassel he is always represented in, and had something red thrown across one shoulder like a scarf. The noise of acclamations came roaring down the route, and as he approached men's slips began to quiver and women cried, and after he passed they turned to each other with wet eyes, shining with excitement and congratulated each other that they had seen him. The intensity of it all carried us away with it, and we cheered with the rest. From the open windows the ladies literally showered him with flowers, and cried out to him endearing Italian words."

The Somerset (Ky.) Reporter, a Democratic paper, thus gives voice to a complaint that has found utterance in other journals in that State: "Blackburn has been Governor of the State but little more than a year, and it is said that he has issued nearly 1,000 pardons, besides uselessly squandering $20,000 or $25,000 of the State funds. And by innumerable remittances of fines he has deprived the State of a large revenue. By the time his term expires, it is expected that the State Treasury will be in a worse condition than it has been for many years."

It is not decent journalism for the Boston Post to charge us with "a scheme to count out the Governor-elect of Maine." The writer of the paragraph proves that he slanders deliberately by showing that we have freely presented the arguments on all sides of a serious Constitutional question. The Post ought to be ashamed of a dishonesty that might be expected of the Globe.

Capt. John Codman, in a Thanksgiving letter written from Boston to the New York Post, relates the following anecdote of Father Taylor: "I once heard Father Taylor approach the Lord very directly in this way on the Sunday before election. He had prayed in the usual way, 'O Lord, give us good men to rule over us, just men who fear Thee, temperate men,' till he at last shouted: 'But, Lord, what is the use of veering and hauling and boxing about the compass? Give us George N. Briggs for Governor.'"

GOSSIP ABOUT CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS. The falling off in newspaper copies of interest since the election is illustrated by the fact that correspondents find nothing better to talk about than gossip concerning individual campaign subscriptions and matters of similar small import. A Washington special says:

"Indiana Congressmen who have just arrived here claim to have correct information as to the sum contributed by Mr. English to the Democratic campaign fund. He at first pledged himself to give $100,000, but he paid just $27,000, and that only after the screws had been several times applied. Mr. Landers, in like manner, before his nomination said that his business was worth $40,000 net profit annually. He was already rich enough, he said, and would if nominated pay $40,000, or one year's profits of his pork establishment. When afterward the committee assessed him $10,000 he objected. Then the sum was reduced to $5,000. Landers paid $3,500, and his brother, Jackson Landers, paid the other $1,500 and begged the committee to make no further assessments on the candidate.

NEWS AND MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

The cure of Arnaud and Madeira, brothers-in-law to Don Carlos has complied with the order to quit Spain. The Toronto City Council has passed a motion, granting the freedom of the city to Janisen and giving him a free deed of the site of his hotel. The opinion is expressed that this action is illegal; and it will be referred to a committee of lawyers.

The jury in the case of Elijah Alliger of New York, charged with hypothecating stolen bonds, gave a verdict of not guilty.

The funeral of Mrs. Littlefield and her little son Albert, was held in East Stoughton, Mass., Tuesday afternoon. Rev. J. T. Sullivan, of Brockton, conducted the services which were peculiarly impressive and affecting. Mr. Littlefield's condition Tuesday was reported to be much worse.

The crew of the wrecked bark, Edward Cardwell, wrecked in the gulf, have arrived at Quebec.

The marriage of Baroness Burdett Coutts to Ashmead Bartlett, has been abandoned.

Dr. John Buchanan, of Philadelphia, has been acquitted on the charge of "using mails with intent to defraud."

A St. Petersburg dispatch says: The ice in the Volga was suddenly broken up at Nijni Novgorod, in consequence of the warm weather. Five steamers and thirty barges were destroyed, and large quantities of grain, naphtha and fish lost. The damage is immense.

The result of the Presidential election in Arkansas, Hancock received 60,491; Garfield, 11,561; Weaver, 1,161.

Advices from Honolulu describe the eruption at Mauna Loa, now in progress, as one of the grandest ever witnessed. It broke out, Nov. fifth, about six miles from the summit crater, throwing off two great streams of lava, one of which was thirty miles long, from one thousand to two hundred yards wide, and twenty feet deep. A terrible explosion accompanies its flow, and some fears are entertained for the safety of Hilo.

Speaker Randall said to a friend in Washington, Monday, that Congress would pass the appropriation bills in less time than they ever before required, and would leave the public business in such shape on the 4th of March that the Republicans would have no excuse for a called session of the XLVIIth Congress. Neither Mr. Randall nor any other Democrat who has recently arrived in Washington has expressed any desire for an extra session. They do not believe in extra sessions as much as they did a year or two ago.

Decrease in the Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. The debt statement issued to-day shows a decrease in the public debt, during November, of $3,660,[illegible] 21.23.

Report of the Secretary of the Interior.

The annual report of the Secretary of the Interior is largely devoted to the Indian affairs. He found that the reservation policy toward the Indians was not good, and was convinced that it was better for the Indians to respect their home attachments; to leave them upon the land they occupied, providing such lands were capable of yielding them a subsistence, and to begin and follow up the practice of introducing among them habits and occupations of civilized life.

The Secretary urges the passage of the bill submitted by him to Congress, which provides for the cutting up of the reservations into individual patents with which a definite title is to be given and the residue of the reservation disposed of for the benefit of resident tribes. This he considers the most essential step in the solution of the Indian problem. He also desires the passage of the bill extending over the Indian reservations, the jurisdiction of the States or Territories in which located so as to give the Indians the benefit of the law. Another great civilizing measure adopted by the present administration in the employment of some 2000 Indians as freighters. He describes the schools for the education of the Indian youth and shows the necessity of their extension. The Secretary remarks that experience has strengthened his conviction, which as this is his last report, he now feels at greater liberty to express, that the management of the Indian affairs should continue to be intrusted to civil and not to the military branch of public service.

The Secretary does not make any recommendations of importance in regard to land-grant railroads, but recapitulates their annual reports, and states that their property is in good condition. The earnings are largely increased, and although the rates have been reduced he believes there will be with the filling up of the country west of the Missouri, remunerative business enough for each one of them.

Single Scull Race.

A single scull race of three miles with turn, was rowed this afternoon over the Potomac river course, for a purse of $300. The contestants were Fred Plaisted, of Boston, John A. Kennedy, of Portland and Lee of New Jersey. The former was slightly the favorite at the start, but not being in as good condition as the other he was badly beaten in the first mile. Kennedy took the lead and rowed a quick, powerful stroke, soon showing in front by over a length. This advantage he held to the stake, turning a length ahead of Lee in 10 05. The race between Lee and Plaisted was very close at the stake, neither having any perceptible advantage. Coming home, however, Lee gradually drew away and spurting several times tried hard to overtake Kennedy, at one time drawing almost level with him. He was unable to keep the pace, however, and Kennedy crossed the line an open length in advance of Lee in 20 minutes and 35 seconds; Plaisted was about eight lengths astern of Lee. Plaisted and Lee leave here to-morrow en route for New Orleans, where they will take part in a regatta. Kennedy returns to Portland.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 1. The Ohio Electoral College chose J. Q. A. Campbell as Messenger to Washington.

The Land League.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. The Brooklyn Land Leaguers last evening appointed a committee with the New York members in reference to the advisability of sending Gen. B. F. Butler to Ireland to defend Parnell and the other indicted members. For the defence fund over $175 was subscribed.

Libel Suit.

George Alfred Townsend, the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, gave bail in a libel suit for $16,000, instituted by Hart, the publisher of the Truth.

Brockway the Counterfeiter.

The property delivered to the Government by Brockway, the forger and counterfeiter, consisted of plates of counterfeit National Bank notes, $1000 government 6 per cent. bond plates, on which the $207,000 worth of bonds found on Doyle in Chicago were printed; and $400,000 worth of $100 bills already for the market. The latter are on six different banks, including the Merchants National Bank of New Bedford. Some of the plates were electrotyped by Brockway and the work was the finest ever done. Smythe, the engraver, said he was forced to do the engraving by Brockway. Fibre paper was also found. Brockway made these surrenders and was released upon condition that he should plead guilty to the two indictments against him, and refrain from ever again counterfeiting. By taking this course the government has received information of great value, the precise nature of which, however, will not at present be learned.

[illegible] ADDS INSULT TO INJURY.

The Pleading About the Chinese Forgery.

Admits Advising Its Circulation.

A Very Tardy Conclusion That He Ought to Help Hunt the Rascal Down.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. A letter from John Abram S. Hewitt will appear in to-morrow's Nation. Mr. Hewitt says the retraction of Judge Davis's false statement closed the issue between them and transferred it to the bar and press. Of the assumption of Judge Davis that he (Hewitt) was open to censure because of friendship between himself and Gen. Garfield, Mr. Hewitt says he cannot conceive even if a warm friendship existed how his expression of belief in the authenticity of the signature of the Morey letter would violate his obligations. As a matter of fact, however, Gen. Garfield and himself had never been friends in any sense of the term.

The Sponsor for the base forgery insists the man in helpless slander.

Speaking further on this point, Mr. Hewitt says that by reference to his speech in the House Feb. 24, 1879, it will be seen that even if (as he of friendship ever existed) it must then have been hardened and good reason will appear why he was not prepared to accept as conclusive a mere verbal denial of Gen. Garfield, when his sworn testimony, on a previous memorable occasion had failed to satisfy his own party associates, his neighbors and the very newspapers who reflected most severely upon him (Sewell) for his want of confidence in Garfield's unsupported assertion. Mr. Hewitt proceeds to say that the opinions expressed in the Morey letter were in entire harmony with the sentiments he had always supposed Garfield to hold, prior to his letter of acceptance, when the letter bore date and not having a suspicion of forgery he concluded the letter was by an announcing and signed by Garfield, and a comparison of the signature with that of three genuine letters confirmed his belief.

He Advises the Circulation of the Letter.

no for the purpose of damaging Gen. Garfield but to show the hollowness of the Republican claim that they were in favor of protecting american labor. After expressing regret that unlucky chance should have brought him where his opinion was asked in regard to the genuineness of a letter which was a matter of profound indifference to him and in regard to which he never supposed any controversy could arise. Mr. Hewitt concludes as follows:

Lamenting that he was "Moist by his own Reward."

"This regret is intensified by the fact that I, instead of Gen. Garfield, have been the victim of the forgery, for Garfield has been elected President while I have had a similar experience of denunciation from the Bench in a case to which I was not a party and in which I had no hearing before the Judge who seemed to confound a witness with an accused criminal. I would have more respect than Gen. Garfield to "Hunt the rascal down" and to insist that due punishment be meted out."

A BIG BLUNDER.

HANCOCK LOSES GEORGIA'S VOTE.

No Meeting of the Electors Yesterday.

A Queer Georgia Statute Probably Takes Eleven Votes from Hancock.

ATLANTA, Dec. 1. It is believed the Electoral vote of Georgia is lost to Hancock and English for the following reason: The Revised Statutes of the United States provides that the Electoral Colleges shall meet the first Wednesday of December and cast their votes. The Georgia Code provides that the Governor shall notify the Electors to meet the first Monday in December to be ready on the Wednesday following to cast the vote. This Monday in December has passed, but the Electors did not meet to-day or vote and it is thought they have no right to meet and vote next Wednesday. Gov. Colquitt is sure that the vote of the State will be counted for Hancock.

A Million and a half Dollars Distributed Among Institutions of Learning and Religion, Relatives and the Needy.

BOSTON, Dec. 1. Among the gifts thus made by Mrs. Valeria G. Stone from the estate left by her husband in trust for his purpose are the following: Bowdoin College, to finish Memorial Hall, $20,000; to endow the professorship of intellectual and moral philosophy, $50,000; to the Hallowell Classical school, $10,000; Fryeburg Academy, $10,000; Dartmouth College, N. H., to endow a professorship of intellectual and moral philosophy, $35,000; to Phillip's Academy, on condition that the subscription of $100,000 be completed $10,000, and about $400,000 to churches and other societies. She also gives $100,000 to relatives and $100,000 to churches and needy students and for the redemption of mortgaged homes, aggregating a million and a half dollars in all.

THE SOLOMON ISLANDS MASSACRE.

A Detailed Account.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. The Sydney N. S. W. Herald gives the following particulars of the late massacres at Solomon Islands: The brigantine Borealis, while seeking labor at Uru, near Malayta, was attacked by the natives who captured the vessel; of the crew five white and one Fijian were killed. Capt. McKenzie and the boat's crew who were ashore at the time, pulled a distance of forty miles to procure assistance and then returned and recaptured the vessel. Two native men, a woman and a boy were captured, and taken to Leu ka. The natives of Rema completely wrecked the residence of Mrs. Williams at Somatra, who narrowly escaped with her life. The cutter Ida, Captain McMillan, was engaging labor at Lord Sante, when the natives boarded her under the pretence of engaging for labor and in the absence of the boat's crew on the shore, tomahawked the captain and native crew remaining on board, except two who obtained muskets and drove the murderers overboard. The boat's crew were attacked at the same time and were all killed but two who reached the cutter and sailed away. The shooting of some of the natives about three months ago was one of the causes of the attack. The natives are armed with many modern weapons obtained from Queensland, and grow daily more dangerous and insolent.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Ireland's Troubles.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. A London special states that the Marquis of Salisbury in a speech at Woodstock last night attacked the Eastern and Irish policies of the Gladstone Government with great severity, and made a special charge of insincerity and duplicity against them. Speaking of the Greek territorial claims and of Gladstone's scheme of enforcing them, Salisbury said the best statement of England was utterly opposed to the maining of Smyrna in order to compel the Porte to fulfill its Greek compacts. Salisbury ridiculed Gladstone's theory that the establishment of a peasant proprietary would be an unfailing panacea for many, if not all, of the Irish evils. The Marquis admitted that the land agitation is only a surface manifestation of the old "home rule" spirit which still thoroughly permeates what may be called the rebellious sections of Ireland. He declared that the government policy could never be wholly successful in Ireland until all disorder was first crushed out and the supremacy of law restored by superior force, and charged that the present Irish troubles were directly traceable to the temporizing legislation of the Gladstone government of 1870. He predicted that evil results would follow every new attempt to bring about harmony and prosperity in Ireland by similar methods.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 1. The Russian Minister Mohsin Khan has sent the Porte the part taken in atrocities committed by Sheik Abdullah and demands his punishment. A body of Albanians recently took 1600 Montenegrin sheep. Montenegrin protested, but the Porte disclaims responsibility.

ROME, Dec. 1. The Diretto publishes the following telegram from Valparaiso: Twenty-five thousand Chilians and 5,000 cavalry and 100 cannon left Arica the 4th inst. and arrived at Risco the 25th. A great battle is expected near the end of November. The Peruvians are estimated to number near y twice as many as the Chilians.

The above conflicts with a despatch of November 29 from London, stating that the Peruvian Minister to Quito has received a telegram that the Chilians occupied Risco on the 20th of November, without opposition.

DUBLIN, Dec. 1. Mr. Mayers has been elected Lord Mayor.

ICE. This cold weather is not exactly relished by the Maine capitalists who have money invested in the ice business. If it continues it will interfere with their operations on the Penobscot and Kennebec this winter, for the reason that ice can be harvested and transported to market at less cost on the Hudson, Lake Champlain and on the inland ponds of the Empire and Green Mountain States. If a thaw should set in a million and a half tons of ice would be gathered on the Kennebec this winter.

The wounds were properly dressed and Mr. Fellows was able to go about again in the afternoon.

UP-RIVER NOTES. Our correspondent Norom writes: Joseph Valley, of Andover, N. H., who went to work for Charles Powers, of Medway, about a fortnight since, struck his axe into his left foot near the instep, cutting a gash four inches long and so deep that it almost severed the foot. He was taken to Winn Monday where the wound was dressed, and which a friend started for home Tuesday morning. Wednesday morning as one of Soule & Doe's lumbering teams was crossing the railroad track at Winn, it collided with the train. Three of the horses were somewhat injured and the sled and stores smashed. Some hard is arriving at H. Poor & Son's tannery, but more snow is needed to make good hauling.

AN EFFORT TO MAKE CANADA'S WINTER PORT AT HALIFAX. A movement is on foot at Halifax to compel the Dominion Government to grant such improved facilities in the equipment of the Intercolonial Railway for the shipment of grain at the reduction of rates as to make Halifax the winter port for Canada, and take away the Canadian trade now come through Boston. The movement is instituted in consequence of the Allan line—which is receiving subsidy from the Canadian Government—making Boston its winter terminal port instead of Halifax. Should the demands not be acceded to, endeavor will be made to obtain the repeal of the union, as things now stand. Our correspondent adds that he was asked for were from said Nova Scotia before the confederation.

FIRE AND BURGLAR PROOF. Messrs. L. & F. H. Strickland, lumber dealers, have put in their office a new safe, which is a fine sample of the perfection to which the construction of fire and burglar proof safes have been brought. This one is from the manufactory of the Detroit, Mich., Safe Co.; it measures outside 52½ inches in height, 36½ inches in width and 30½ inches in depth; the walls are thick, but give an inside space 32 inches high, 24 wide and 16 deep; it is provided with an interior steel chest and spacious drawers. The safe has patent double folding doors, both outside and inside, and patent six flange steel door frames and jambs. Combination locks, of the most approved pattern, secure the doors. The exterior has a handsomely polished surface ornamented with fine landscapes in oil, and the name of the firm in gilt letters.

FOR THE LADIES. Collars and cuffs for young ladies are made very large for mourning wear. They are not altogether white, but scalloped cut and embroidered in scarlet, mauve, black or blue. These sets, well and tastefully selected, add very much to the tout ensemble of the toilet. The cuffs are either plain or plaited, but invariably matched to the collar. Very pretty and becoming sets are also made of Surah silk, of two shades of color, plain or figured. The collars are cut sailor fashion and fastened with a somewhat loose bow of the same. They are made for mourning with tiny knife-plaited frills around the edges made of the same material instead of lace. Elegant sets for evening wear are made of India silk mull or brocaded Languedoc net, and adorned with gathered ruffles or lace, five inches wide, and of centers of bright flowers and leaves. Those made of lavender or blue silk mull are particularly effective.

DEATH OF A MAINE MAN. Tuesday's despatch from Natick, Mass., was received by Portland, stating that Col. A. J. Nichols of the Ocean House, Cape Elizabeth, died very suddenly in that town Tuesday morning. Col. Nichols left for Natick only a few days ago and was seen in his usual health in Boston, Monday. He had been subject to trouble with his head, but his death was caused by neuralgia of the heart. He had resided in Portland some 30 years, and, during the season kept the Ocean House at Cape Elizabeth, which he owned. Last season Mr. Thomas Means was associated with him in the management. Col. Nichols has been in business for the government in California—where he had been connected with the militia of that State—and also in Augusta in the State, where he was born. He was agent for the Walcott estate in Natick and has been a member of the Union Lumber Co in that place. During the war he was Lieut. of Co. B, 2nd Maine Cavalry, and when the regiment was at Tallboudeaux was acting Assistant Quartmaster on the staff. Col. Nichols was a member of the Loyal Legion, also a Mason and member of both Boston and Portland Commanderies. He was about forty years old and leaves a widow and adopted child.

Lumbering in Oxford County.

Frank Thomas, of Andover, has promised to put 1,500,000 feet of spruce timber into Ellis river, at North Rumford, the coming winter, from the Lane land, so called, and it is said John Staples of Carthage will put into salt river 1,000,000 feet of spruce at South Andover, from said land. The Shepards have built their camps, and made their road and bridges to their camps, three and a fourth miles. They are all ready for one foot of snow. Blake & Sons of Bethel it is said, will haul Shepard's lumber from the camp to the river. Staples will pass over Shepard's road about one and one-half miles. On this road nearly at the head of the pass on Gardner Brook, is a steep and sharp ascent, called "Break-neck." You cannot see over the whole of the next 30 or 40 rods, consequently Mr. Shepard will put a guard attached to a wire, where a team at either end can signal for coming teams to wait. It is thought a team will pass Break-neck every ten minutes during the day.

West Waterville Items.

Our correspondent writes: B. F. Folger, Esq., last week met with a painful accident. A cast iron "harness post," weighing over six hundred pounds, fell over, striking Mr. F. upon the heel and inflicting a severe wound. No bones were broken, but it was a very narrow escape from a crushed and broken leg.

Among the industries of our village the manufacture of scythe and axe boxes by A. B. Bates & Son, is of much importance. The axe boxes are "dove-tailed," and are put together in place, making a very strong and neat box. The "dove-tailing" is done by saws, thus enabling a large amount of the work to be done in a short time. The sale of these boxes is not confined to this town, but extends to a wide market.

The West Waterville Band have recently divided the season's earnings, and are now busily rehearsing a higher grade of music than they have heretofore given much attention to. They have added clarionets, and are now a full brass and reed band, and will number next season twenty or twenty-one pieces. This band has been organized nearly five years, and most of the time during that period have met twice a week for rehearsals, and by spring (if not at present) will be on an equal footing with the best bands in Maine, not only in the class of its music, but in style of execution as well.

Business in our shops is good, and the approaching holiday season makes things lively for the traders.

Rev. W. G. Haskell, of Lewiston, will lecture at Memorial Hall next Friday evening; subject—"Something new under the Sun." This is the second of the course.

Our people are much interested in the matter of "who shall be Governor," and with the constitution and law properly applied. No reasonable man can find fault with the position of the WIRE AND COURIER so recently expressed.

From Q Corner.

OLDTOWN, Nov. 30, 1880.

Mr Editor:—I avail myself of this last day of Autumn, to drop you a word or two in regard to the state and welfare of our town. Spiritually, there are but two societies out of the eight or ten, who are at the present time, able to maintain a pastor, so we may be said to be at a very low ebb in that respect. No one can deny but what we make up in intemperance quite as much as is lacking in Christian progress.

Physically, the destroying angel has been actively thinning our ranks. During the year past several of our older citizens have been laid away to their final rest, each in years more than three score, and one more than four score. Mrs. Mary Soper came here in 1817, she being then five years old. Thomas Hunt came here in 1823, and died at over eighty. Solomon Monton came here in 1828. Joseph Moulton came here in 1832. John H. Billiard came here in 1833. Benjamin P. Hoyt came here before 1840. Samuel W. Hoyt came here in 1841. Nathan C. Gross came before 1840, and Joseph R. Whittier who came about 1845. All have gone the way of all flesh.

Politically, the Republicans are feeling very cheerful, while apparently, with few exceptions, the opposition are not feeling very bad. There are two or three Naships, with visions of a post office, who are greatly disappointed, so much so, that they are unable wholly to conceal their chagrin. "No counting out and no counting in," is the prevailing sentiment here; but do just what the constitution and the law requires.

The teams and crews have mostly left for the woods, leaving our village rather sparse of population; and that leads me to remark that there is no productive business being done here, and none to be done, as we are at present situated, with the mills all burned down, and the water running idly by.

At the present time, there is an effort being made to organize a company, with sufficient capital to build up something to utilize the water power; the only risk to its success, that I can see, is the great diversity of opinions as to what and how much should be done; it is really to be hoped that a sufficient combination may be formed, so as to make a commencement.

The Supposed Biddeford Murder.

A coroner's jury to investigate the case of John T. Goodwin who died in Biddeford under suspicious circumstances last week, met Saturday and examined three witnesses, viz.: Henry Gould, John Acherly and Philander Rogers. The examination was made with closed doors and it is impossible to give the exact testimony. Henry Gould, one of the witnesses, was a friend of Goodwin's, and was with him that night. They were at different places rallying for turkeys, drinking, etc. About 9 o'clock Gould went almost home with Goodwin. He went with him as far as his (Goodwin's) house on Cutts street. He left him right opposite his house, only on the other side of the street. Gould then went home himself and knows nothing further about him. John M. Ackerly says he saw Goodwin come out of Forrest Johnson's saloon a little before 1 o'clock and start toward his (Goodwin's) house. He was not at that time very drunk, but to all appearances he was sober enough to get home all right. Seth Goodwin, brother of the unfortunate man, says there was only one track through the yard leading from the street to his door. It will be remembered that there was a slight snow on the ground that night, and tracks could be easily seen. These are the facts, as far as it is possible to find out, at present. The fact that there was no blood outside of the door leading to the street, and that there was only one track from the street to the door leading into the house, seems to favor the theory that he fell down stairs, and received his injuries from the fall. There was blood at the foot of the stairs and on the banister leading up stairs, also on the knob of the door leading into the room where he was found.

FELLOWS' SYRUP

Consumption Bronchitis, Asthma.

WEBB'S FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP unclean in all other diseases, the cause of which is manifestly evil lyds in Consumption and other diseases of the Respiratory Organs, would vindicate the claim to the attention of every intelligent sufferer. From the statistics of England and America it is a fair estimate that one-fourth of the entire deaths is caused by Consumption alone. The Syrup is used perseveringly it subdues the tendency to Consumption, and in many confirmed cases, as in that of the inventor, it has effected a cure.

Indigestion and habitual Costiveness almost always arise from weakness of the nerves and muscles of the stomach and bowels. In such cases Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has proved itself of the greatest service. The evacuations soon become copious and healthy.

This Syrup will cure PULMONARY CONSUMPTION in the first stage, and will give great relief and prolong life in the second and third. It will cure ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, LARYNGITIS, and COUGHS. It will cure all diseases originating from want of Nutritive Action and Nervous Force.

Public Speakers and Singers.

Will find this Syrup of inestimable value. A dose should be taken before speaking or singing. Aphonia, or the Loss of Voice, is usually cured by a few doses. We have known cases where a single dose has been effectual.

S. JACOB, M. D. Ed. Cabin, N. J., writes:

"I had occasion to use your Syrup in a case of Aphonia which would not yield to regular treatment. It proved to be all that you claimed for it, having acted with expedition and entire satisfaction."

☞ Do not be deceived by remedies bearing a similar name; no other preparation is a substitute for this, under any circumstances.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. (Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.)

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 50.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office, and State, written on the end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

☞ The public are earnestly recommended to provide themselves with envelopes with return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $2.25 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.
